Get Creative With ...

Sally Scrapbook

Today we had the chance to interview one of the most creative people we know here at Alter Ego Times, of course we are referring to Sally Scrapbook. Sally sat down with us and we talked about herself, things she loves about crafting and even tips and tricks to help you at home get creative yourself.

Q: Can you remember your first ever arts and crafts project?

A: Other than the numerous drawings with crayons on giant pieces of paper, the first art project that comes to mind was for mothers day in grade 1. I made my mom a watermelon themed gift which included a watermelon shaped card, a picture frame decked out with little watermelons, and I even went to the candy store and bought her those little watermelon candies!

Q: What was your first scrapbook about?

A: My first scrapbook was dedicated to the summer between grade 6 and 7. One of my best friends from primary school was moving countries at the end of the summer so I thought it would be nice to document our last summer together. My mom had a friend who loved to scrapbook and she gave me this huge box filled with decorative paper, tapes and stickers. Ever since then I've been hooked!

Q: Speed round! Favourite colour, food, season, holiday, and scrapbooking accessory!?

A: Yellow! Does candy count?! Spring! Halloween! Washi Tape!

Q: Stamps or Stickers?

A: Now this is a tricky one! In a perfect world I would never choose between stamps and stickers but I will try just for you guys! Stamps are awesome because they last forever, you can always change up the colours and you'll never run out of that particular stamp shape. The problems with stamps is that they are the worst to clean and aren't the cheapest. Stickers have a wider range of option; you can literally think of any holiday, season, country and you will find 500+ stickers for it. Most start at a very reasonable price but once you use them their gone!

And It's usually hard to find the same pack. BUT after saying all that today I'm going to have to go with Stickers!!

Q: What is your favourite thing to scrapbook?

A: I love scrapbooking events or my travels. Events are awesome because you get most of your supply's from the actual event! Most events have tickets, programs, flyers, even sometimes stickers, and just by hanging on to those add some pictures and fun paper prints and you have a very cool looking scrapbook page. Traveling is similar, save your boarding pass, train tickets, buy a couple post cards and you're half way there!

Q: What are some tips and tricks you gave give people scrapbooking on a budget?

A: As much as we all love spending hours in Michaels, it can be a big burden on your wallet and I get that! I introduce to you my secret weapon... the dollar store! Dollar stores have almost everything and yes for a dollar (or less) you need to start scrapbooking.

"I introduce to you my secret weapon... the dollar store!"
